

HUNTING HORROR

Belgian Industrial Death-Metal - Est. 2017

Formerly known as Squidhead, Hunting Horror deliver an Industrial punch of Death Metal reminiscent and taking influence from the likes of Fear Factory, Meshuggah and Morbid Angel, setting out to imprint their own death-metal stamp in the music world. Masked and portraying strange characters as alter egos, the band plays live with an imagery inspired by the myth of Cthulhu and the horrific universe of the writer HP Lovecraft.

Since their recent formation as a band, Hunting Horror made their debut with 'Cult[ist]', a self-released powerful composition embracing their own twist on death-metal mayhem, mixed by HK Krauss at Vamacara Studio (Clisson).

In recent months through relentless self promotion and hunger to succeed, Hunting Horror have gained the attention of fans and industry worldwide, resulting in the signing to worldwide agency Metal Music Bookings and Management, and through this the progressive decision to re-launch from Squidhead, to Hunting Horror.
